COLLISION KILLS 23

Electric Express Crashes Into an Empty Train.

MANY PASSENGERS INJURED

Only Six Occupants of a Crowded Car Escape Injury—Line Had Only Recently Been Given the Electric Equipment.

(By Associated Press.)
LIVERPOOL, ENG., July 27.—An electric express train on the Lancaster & Yorkshire railroad, collided from Liverpool to Southport, collided this evening with an empty stationary train at the Hall Road station, causing the death of twenty-three persons and the injury of many.

The first car of the express, which was crowded, was smashed to pieces and only six of its occupants escaped. This road was only recently given an electric equipment.

This is the first serious accident that has occurred on an electric railway in England and it filled with horror the numerous waiting passengers standing at the Hall Road station, who were spectators of the disaster. The collision lifted the first car of the express completely off the steel frame and crushed it down again on the unfortunate passengers, twenty of whom were killed outright.

More of them would have been killed, but for the presence of mind of a Liverpool architect, who, seeing that a collision was inevitable, shouted to his fellow passengers to throw themselves upon the floor of the car.
